REPORTING PRACTICE SUMMARY – 2024

The Dominican Republic continued to submit a 'nil' report for exports.

The Dominican Republic reported Numbers of small arms imports but did not specify whether these were Authorized or Actual.

The Dominican Republic reported both Authorized and Actual Numbers of imports under three voluntary national categories.

GOOD PRACTICES

The Dominican Republic disaggregated reported imports by weapon category and sub-category.

The Dominican Republic submitted a 'nil' report for exports, indicating clearly it had no transfers to report.

The Dominican Republic provided descriptions for all reported imports.

The Dominican Republic provided definitions of national categories, which it used to report additional imports.

ROOM FOR IMPROVEMENT

The Dominican Republic did not indicate whether imports of small arms were authorized or actual.

The Dominican Republic aggregated exporters of small arms and munitions, making it impossible to determine how many items were exported from which country.

The Dominican Republic could indicate clearly that there were no imports of specific categories and sub-categories of arms, rather than leaving the relevant sections of the reporting template blank.
