REPORTING PRACTICE SUMMARY - 2022

Ireland's reporting changed slightly in 2022.

Ireland did not report any major conventional arms exports. It continued to report a combination of Authorized Numbers and some Values of small arms exports.

Ireland continued to report Numbers of small arms imports.

GOOD PRACTICES

Ireland provided descriptions as well as some comments for most of its reported transfers.

Ireland reported some values of small arms exports in addition to the number of items transferred.

Ireland indicated clearly that there were no reported imports in specific weapons categories and subcategories.

Ireland reported the state of origin of some of its reported exports.

ROOM FOR IMPROVEMENT

Ireland continued to aggregate the final importing/exporting countries in some of its small arms exports and imports sub-categories, making it impossible to determine how many items were exported to or imported from specific countries.

Ireland did not specify whether it reported Authorized or Actual imports of small arms.

Ireland could provide more comments and descriptions on the nature of all its reported transfers.
